October 7: Taking a Breather

US rates rally in a quiet session with a strong 3y auction; Takaichi's economic adviser open to a December rate hike; CAD outperforms G10 on constructive trade developments; Brazil and Hungary underperform amid domestic political events; DXY at 98.578 (+0.5%); US 10y at 4.124 (-3.0bp).

In a quiet session, global rates and the dollar benefit from a modest risk-off rotation.

Developed Markets

- With economic data still limited, US rates rally ~3bp with support from softening domestic risk sentiment (S&P 500: -0.4%). The belly of the curve outperforms after a strong 3y auction, which stops 0.8bp through on solid demand. 1y CPI swaps close largely unchanged, despite the NY Fed's survey showing an increase in 1y inflation expectations (3.4%; P: 3.2%). As the government shutdown continues, President Trump appears to further postpone the proposed federal layoffs, stating that more details will come in the next 4-5 days. Media reports suggest the US administration does not believe all furloughed federal employees would be entitled to retroactive pay after the shutdown, unlike in past shutdowns.
- Japanese rates twist flatten in a slight reversal of yesterday's sharp steepening amid more details of Takaichi's potential administration. A key economic adviser to Takaichi states that although an October rate hike would be difficult, a 25bp hike in December is not "a problem." Accordingly, front-end JGBs sell off 1bp as market pricing for a BoJ rate hike in December rebounds slightly. Meanwhile, long-end JGBs remain well-supported (30y: -0.5bp) after a slightly weak 30y auction sees decent direct acceptable bids, suggesting continued demand from real money investors. However, USD/JPY weakens another 1%, ending the New York session at 151.9.
- European rates start the day weaker in an extension of yesterday's sell-off, but ultimately rally slightly in sympathy with the US. EGB spreads close marginally wider, with France continuing to underperform (30y OAT: +1bp) as outgoing Prime Minister Lecornu continues negotiation efforts with other political parties. Our economists expect snap elections will most likely be called in the next few days, and it remains unclear whether the outcome would be another hung parliament. With snap elections as the baseline scenario, we believe French bonds could face additional pressure.
- As risk sentiment wanes, the dollar strengthens (DXY: +0.5%) while fiscal concerns weigh on other safe-haven currencies (USD/JPY: +1.0%; EUR/USD: -0.5%). Tech stocks lead a sell-off in US equities as speculative media reports challenge optimism around AI profitability. The Russell 2000 (-1.1%) and cyclical sectors (S&P Consumer Discretionary: -1.4%; Communication Services: -0.7%) underperform, while defensive sectors strengthen (Consumer Staples: +0.9%; Utilities: +0.4%).

- CAD holds steady against a strengthening USD (USD/CAD: 0%), outperforming the G10 amid constructive trade developments between Canada and the US. After a meeting with Canadian Prime Minister Carney, President Trump says he expects the US and Canada to eventually reach a trade deal, but does not provide further details on timing, or whether it would be separate from the 2026 USMCA review. CAD's relative strength is supported by a strong PMI print at 59.8 (P: 50.1). Our public policy strategists expect the eventual USMCA review to largely preserve the existing free trade relationship between the US, Canada, and Mexico.

Emerging Markets

- In Hungary, the curve bull-steepens (2y: -7bp; 10y: -2bp) and HUF underperforms across all of EM on the back of comments from the Hungarian Economy Minister calling for lower rates, echoing similar proposals from Prime Minister Orban on Monday. EUR/HUF closes 1.1% higher. Elsewhere in CEEMEA, the Turkish OIS curve bear-steepens (2y: +8bp; 10y: +15bp), with CBT Governor Karahan stating that disinflation has slowed.
- Brazilian assets underperform amid domestic political headlines. Brazilian Finance Minister Haddad says the administration is studying the feasibility of offering free public transportation nationwide. The DI curve bear-steepens (Jan 2029: +10bp), BRL weakens 0.7% against USD, and local equities sell off (Ibovespa: -1.6%). Elsewhere in LatAm, Chile outperforms the dollar strength, with CLP gaining 0.3% against USD.

Central Bank Monitor

Developed Markets

- Fed Governor Miran expressed optimism about the US economy but warned of risks if interest rates are not lowered soon. He expects the Fed will have sufficient data by the October FOMC meeting to make a decision, though private data does not bridge the gap. Miran stressed the need for forward-looking monetary policy.
- Minneapolis Fed President Kashkari cautioned that drastic rate cuts could trigger a surge in inflation and noted that it is too early to know if high inflation will persist. Kashkari is not a voting FOMC member this year.

Emerging Markets

- In Taiwan, CBC stated that it intervened in the local FX market in September. CBC Head of FX Department Tsai said they have been in contact with the US Treasury, though the US has not asked for an appreciation of TWD.
- In the Philippines, BSP stated that domestic demand remains resilient, and inflation expectations are well anchored. BSP projects inflation to average below the target range in 2025, mainly due to the recent easing in rice prices, and expected to stay within the range in 2026 and 2027.
- In India, RBI Deputy Governor Rabi Sankar stated that the central bank is not in a hurry to implement the Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC) nationwide. He said that there are currently about 7 million CBDC users in India and said that the best use case lies in cross-border transactions.

- In Turkey, CBT Governor Karahan said that disinflation has slowed down, later adding that the inflation fight is a "marathon."

The Day Ahead

Developed Markets

- 9:00pm ET - New Zealand RBNZ Monetary Policy Meeting (C: 2.75%; P: 3.00%). Our economists expect a 25bp cut from the RBNZ, while market pricing has remained split between a 25bp to 50bp cut.
- 7:00am BST - Sweden September Flash CPI (MSe: 0.9% y/y; C: 1.0%; P: 1.1%); CPIF (MSe: 3.0% y/y; C: 3.2%; P: 3.2%) & CPIF ex Energy (MSe: 2.7% y/y; C: 2.8%; P: 2.9%). We expect more correction in volatile services and weaker repricing in clothing and household furnishing, leading to a decline in core inflation. We expect energy inflation at 0.4% m/m.

- 2:00pm EST - US September FOMC Meeting Minutes. Could provide more insight into how members are interpreting recent labor data — the contrast between employment ratios, which have been fairly stable, and the sharper slowdown in payrolls.
- 7:00am BST - Germany August Industrial Production (incl. Construction) (MSe: -0.4%; C: -1%; P: 1.3%)
- 11:30am BST - ECB Governing Council Member Elderson will speak in Tallin
- ECB President Lagarde and ECB Executive Board Member Cipollone will speak in Luxembourg
- 9:20am EST - St. Louis Fed President Musalem will speak
- 9:30am EST - Fed Governor Barr will speak at the Community Banking Research Conference
- 3:15pm EST - Minneapolis Fed President Kashkari will speak
- 5:45pm EST - Fed Governor Barr will speak about community development

Emerging Markets

- Poland NBP Monetary Policy Meeting (MSe: 4.75%; C: 4.75%; P: 4.75%). Our economists see the NBP remaining on hold, expecting the November forecasts to give a clearer signal to the MPC that inflation will remain close to the target in the medium term. However, we see a 40% subjective probability of the NBP deciding to front-load monetary policy easing. Read more
- Wed 3:00pm HKT - Thailand BoT October Monetary Policy Meeting (MSe: 1.25%; C: 1.25%; P: 1.50%). Our economists expect BoT to cut rates by 25bp on the back of persistent weakness in growth and inflation.
- 9:00am HKT - Philippines August Unemployment Rate (P: 5.3%)
- 11:00am HKT - Indonesia September Consumer Confidence (P: 117.2)
- 11:30am HKT - Thailand September Consumer Confidence (P: 50.1)
- 4:00pm HKT - Taiwan September Headline CPI (MSe: 1.5% y/y; C: 1.6%; P: 1.6%); Core CPI (MSe: 1.5% y/y; C: 1.7%; P: 1.7%) & PPI (P: -5.0% y/y)
- 4:30pm HKT - Hong Kong September FX Reserves (P: $421.6bn)
- 7:30am BST - Hungary September CPI (MSe: 4.2% y/y; C: 4.4%; P: 4.3%)

- 7:00am EST - Chile September CPI (MSe: 0.29% m/m; P: 0.04%; C: 0.40%). Our economists expect September CPI below consensus but broadly in line with inflation forwards, with the main driver being cyber sales. Markets are pricing ~8bps of additional cuts for the remainder of 2025 and ~24bps for 2026, implying a terminal rate OF ~4.3% by end-2026. Read more

Trading Strategy 1 – "Trade Longs/Fade Shorts"

When the 5-day moving average crosses above the 20-day moving average, buy the futures contract (long duration) and hold for a 25-business-day period. When the 5-day moving average crosses below the 20-day moving average, buy the futures contract and hold for a 25-business-day period. In short, this strategy buys futures when the Simple Moving Average Crossover (SMAX) generates both a long and a short signal, given the historical outperformance of long signals traded long and the underperformance of short signals traded short. Given that the SMAX could generate both a long and a short signal within the predefined holding period, an investor may have a 200% long position since each of the two signals would be traded in separate portfolio sleeves.

Trading Strategy 2 – Trade "Longs Only"

When the 5-day moving average crosses above the 20-day moving average, buy the futures contract (long duration) and hold for a 25-business-day period. When the 5-day moving average crosses below the 20-day moving average, do nothing. In short, an investor only trades long signals initiated by the SMAX given their historical precedent to outperform.
