October 30: Central Banks Hold Steady

BoJ and ECB on hold, as expected; de-escalation in US-China trade tensions, with US to lower tariffs by 10%; ECB remains data-dependent; BoJ's Ueda sees US downside risks easing; JPY underperforms G10; US rates extend sell-off; DXY at 99.526 (+0.3%); US 10y at 4.099 (+2.1bp).

A clear de-escalation in US-China trade tensions fails to offset weak risk sentiment in the wake of Fed Chair Powell's comments on Thursday.

Developed Markets

- After a constructive meeting with Chinese President Xi, President Trump states that the US will lower tariffs on Chinese imports by 10% and delay implementation of proposed export controls, in exchange for China postponing its own export controls and purchasing US soybeans. Risk assets show little reaction, as optimism for the meeting was largely priced beforehand. We estimate the new US effective tariff rate on China at roughly 30%, in line with our public policy strategists' expectations. Our China economists view these developments as a slight positive for growth, though a durable trade de-escalation remains elusive.
- The BoJ keeps rates on hold at 0.50% as widely expected, driving a slight bull-steepening (2y JGB: -1.5bp; 20y: -0.5bp) as the Outlook Report comes in less hawkish than expected. BoJ Governor Ueda's press conference afterwards does little to change this perception, as he remains noncommittal on near-term rate hikes. Accordingly, JGB futures rally in the Tokyo evening session. However, our economists now expect a rate hike in December as their base case given that Governor Ueda sees an easing in downside risks from the US. Although the rally in front-end JGBs is modest, yield differentials drive JPY weaker due to the sell-off in the US and Europe. USD/JPY ends the New York session 0.9% higher, with JPY leading losses among G10 currencies.
- In another widely expected decision, the ECB holds rates at 2% with unchanged forward guidance. Bunds show little reaction, with yields remaining 1-2bp higher largely on the back of Wednesday's move in US rates. Even so, our economists revise their ECB forecast in light of stronger real data over the past weeks, now expecting a hold in December with the next cut in March 2026. In their view, below-potential euro area GDP growth, a persistent undershoot in core inflation, and further EUR appreciation still point to an eventual continuation of rate cuts.

- In a quiet session, US rates extend Wednesday's sell-off, potentially under additional pressure from strong corporate credit issuance. The move shows a steepening bias, with 30y yields up 3bp. US equities sell off (S&P 500: -1%) as easing trade tensions are overshadowed by Fed Chair Powell's comments from Thursday and a negative reaction to large-cap tech earnings. Other cyclical sectors like Consumer Discretionary (-2.6%) lead the sell-off alongside tech (Communication Services: -2.1%). Gold and silver see strong demand amid weak risk sentiment, rallying 2-3%.
- The dollar strengthens (DXY: +0.3%) as markets continue to price out future rate cuts past December, with the likelihood of a cut in either December or January 2026 now only at 50%. The safe-haven CHF stores the fewest losses in the G10, weakening only 0.2% against USD. Meanwhile, risk-sensitive currencies underperform (NZD/USD: -0.4%; AUD/USD: -0.3%). In our view, near-term dollar-negative catalysts have faded in the absence of official data, but the global backdrop remains favorable for risk-sensitive currencies given declining inflation risks and easing trade tensions.

Emerging Markets

- In the Asia session, AxJ currencies and rates sell off on the back of Thursday's FOMC meeting. Despite the positive outcome of the Trump-Xi meeting, risk sentiment appears weak in China, with local equities selling off (CSI 300: -0.8%) as rates outperform (10y CGB: -1bp). In the wake of the meeting, CNH initially gains 0.1% but closes 0.3% weaker amid broad dollar strength. In Korea, KRW weakens 1%, reversing all of Wednesday's gains from the US trade agreement, under pressure from the downward move in JPY. Local rates bear-steepen, with 10y KTBs selling off 8bp. Thailand is a regional outperformer; THB weakens only 0.2% against USD, supported by the recovery in gold prices and an upward revision of the 2025 GDP growth forecast by the Finance Ministry to 2.4% (P: 2.2%).
- CEEMEA rates sell off in line with the move in core rates. In the Czech Republic, the entire curve shifts higher by 5bp, driven by a stronger-than-expected GDP print (2.7% y/y; C: 2.3%). In Hungary, the curve also shifts 5bp higher, despite a downside surprise in 3Q GDP at 0.6% y/y (C: 1.0%). ZAR underperforms regional currencies (USD/ZAR: +0.5%) despite strong gold prices, with SARB Governor Kganyago downplaying the likelihood of adding to the country's gold reserves.
- LatAm rates and FX markets also extend their sell-off after Thursday's Fed meeting. The Brazilian DI curve steepens notably, with long-end yields rising 10bps. BRL is also the weakest performer among regional currencies, weakening 0.4% against USD. Mexico's TIIE and Chile's CAM curves shift higher across all tenors, while Colombia's IBR curve steepens modestly, driven by a 9bps move in the 5y tenor, despite the absence of domestic catalysts. COP outperforms, climbing 0.5% against USD despite little change in oil prices (Brent: +0.1%).

Central Bank Monitor

Developed Markets

- The BoJ maintained its policy rate at 0.50% with a vote split of 7-2, unchanged from the prior meeting. The FY2025 GDP and price outlooks were both revised up by 10bp. During the press conference, the BoJ Governor Ueda said that “the likelihood of the central outlook being realized has increased,” but also emphasized the need to see more data. BoJ appeared to focus more on Shunto wage negotiations for FY2026 rather than the US economy, and the initial momentum for this wage negotiation will be a key factor in the timing of the next hike. Read more
- The ECB maintained its policy rate at 2.00%, in line with expectations. The ECB remains in wait-and-see mode and retained its data-dependent approach. The ECB took stock of a better 3Q25 GDP than expected, and focused less on risks to the outlook than in September. Read more

Emerging Markets

- In India, RBI Deputy Governor Sankar said the central bank will continue to ensure ample liquidity in the banking system, pushing back on the notion that the domestic bond market did not transmit rate cuts. Sankar explained that India’s journey toward capital account convertibility is an ongoing process, and the goal of internationalizing INR is not to replace USD. He highlighted the depth of the INR market and reiterated that the central bank will intervene in times of volatility
- In Malaysia, BNM said that its commitment to share FX intervention data with the US Treasury will not impede its ability to pursue FX intervention when needed. The central bank noted a long-standing stance against using MYR to boost trade competitiveness, adding that exchange rate movements are considered only to the extent that they affect the domestic inflation and growth outlook
- In Taiwan, the CBC September monetary policy meeting minutes showed that two board members believed the upward revision in Taiwan’s 2025 GDP growth forecast left no room for rate cuts. In their view, the gradual decline in inflation also signaled no need for rate hikes. Several members expressed support for maintaining the current policy rate while ensuring ample liquidity through open market operations to support traditional industries and small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs). One member remarked that compared to cutting rates, open market operations provides greater flexibility

- In the Czech Republic, one CNB member highlighted services as a key domestic inflation risk, and believes the next move could be either a cut or a hike, suggesting a long period of rates on hold
- In South Africa, SARB Governor Kganyago downplays the likelihood of adding to the country's gold reserves. He said gold comprises more than 20% of current reserves, with some purchased when bullion prices were below $400/oz, providing little incentive to add to the position at current prices

Economic Releases

Developed Markets

- Sweden October NIER Economic Tendency Indicator October: 100.8. Our economists note the improvement mainly reflects the expectations of improved activity and financial situation on the back of the 2026 Budget bill. The indicator is the first sign of 4Q, and points to an expansion of activity in October. Sentiment notably improved in retail trade, services sector and amongst consumers. Retail trade improved both on the back of stronger current sales and expectations.

Emerging Markets

- Philippines September Trade Balance: -$4.4bn (C: -$4.3bn; P: -$4.0bn); Exports: 15.9% y/y (C: 11.4%; P: 5.5%) and Imports: 2.1% y/y (C: -2.3%; P: -0.3%)
- Singapore September Unemployment Rate: 2.0% (C: 2.0%; P: 2.0%)
- South Africa September PPI: 2.3% y/y (C: 2.6%; P: 2.1%)
- Czech 3Q GDP: 2.7% y/y (MSe: 2.2%; C: 2.3%; P: 2.6%)
- Hungary 3Q GDP: 0.6% y/y (MSe: 0.9%; C: 1.0%; P: 0.1%)
- Mexico 3Q GDP SA: -0.02% (MSe: 0.5% y/y; P: 0.0%; C: -0.3%). Broadly in line with consensus, but lower than our economists' expectations, marking the first annual decline since 2020. This reinforces the case for further Banxico easing amid slowing economic growth. Currently, the market is pricing in ~45 bps of cuts for the remainder of 2025 and ~31 bps through August 2026, with a terminal rate near 6.76%. Our economists expect a 25bp rate cut at the November 6 meeting, followed by three additional cuts, bringing the terminal rate to 6.50% by March 2026.
- Chile September Commercial Activity: 9.3% y/y (P: 4.8%). Commerce strongly surprised to the upside, led by wholesale (+12.8%) and autos (+17.8%) driven by holiday effects and strong goods demand. Industrial output rose 1.5% y/y, with manufacturing up 5.0% (food and machinery) offsetting a -1.8% mining decline on weaker copper. Recovery remains uneven, as domestic demand is resilient and production soft. Markets are currently pricing in ~8bps of cuts in December and ~19bps of cuts in 2026, with a terminal rate near 4.47%. Our economists maintain their call for a 25 bp cut in December.

The Day Ahead

Developed Markets

- Fri 9:45am BST - France October Preliminary CPI (MSe: 1.0% y/y; C: 1.0%; P: 1.2%). We see core CPI and HICP stable in October, with headline pushed slightly down by lower energy and food inflation.
- 8:30am ET - Canada August GDP (C: 0.9%; P: 0.9%).

- 9:30am EST - Dallas Fed President Logan will speak at the Bank Funding Conference
- 12:00pm EST - Cleveland Fed President Hammack and Atlanta Fed President Bostic will speak at the Bank Funding Conference

Emerging Markets

- Fri 2:00pm EST - Colombia BanRep Monetary Policy (MSe: 9.25%; P: 9.25%; C: 9.25%). Our economists expect BanRep to remain on hold, in line with consensus. Inflation dynamics remain challenging, with services sticky and demand pressures more than offsetting the downward pressure from COP appreciation on goods inflation. The bar for a hike is still high, and we expect a neutral-to-easing bias. Markets are pricing in ~11 bps of hikes through the remainder of 2025 and ~11 bps by February 2026, implying a terminal rate near 9.48%. Read more

Trading Strategy 1 – "Trade Longs/Fade Shorts"

When the 5-day moving average crosses above the 20-day moving average, buy the futures contract (long duration) and hold for a 25-business-day period. When the 5-day moving average crosses below the 20-day moving average, buy the futures contract and hold for a 25-business-day period. In short, this strategy buys futures when the Simple Moving Average Crossover (SMAX) generates both a long and a short signal, given the historical outperformance of long signals traded long and the underperformance of short signals traded short. Given that the SMAX could generate both a long and a short signal within the predefined holding period, an investor may have a 200% long position since each of the two signals would be traded in separate portfolio sleeves.

Trading Strategy 2 – Trade "Longs Only"

When the 5-day moving average crosses above the 20-day moving average, buy the futures contract (long duration) and hold for a 25-business-day period. When the 5-day moving average crosses below the 20-day moving average, do nothing. In short, an investor only trades long signals initiated by the SMAX given their historical precedent to outperform.

US Holiday Trading Strategy

Currently Active Strategies

None.

Combining the individual trading signals based on 10y Treasury future (TY) price patterns before and after US holidays has generated an annual strategy with no down years since 1987. See Trading 10y Treasury Futures Around US Holidays for more information.

Using historical data since 1983, we created a trading strategy using 10y Treasury futures (TY) that trades 11 times per year, either long or short, before or after the following US holidays: New Year's Day, Martin Luther King Day, Presidents' Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. Certain disclosures listed above are also for compliance with applicable regulations in non-US jurisdictions.

STOCK RATINGS

Morgan Stanley uses a relative rating system using terms such as Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated or Underweight (see definitions below). Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold and sell. Investors should carefully read the definitions of all ratings used in Morgan Stanley Research. In addition, since Morgan Stanley Research contains more complete information concerning the analyst's views, investors should carefully read Morgan Stanley Research, in its entirety, and not infer the contents from the rating alone. In any case, ratings (or research) should not be used or relied upon as investment advice. An investor's decision to buy or sell a stock should depend on individual circumstances (such as the investor's existing holdings) and other considerations.

Global Stock Ratings Distribution

(as of September 30, 2025)

The Stock Ratings described below apply to Morgan Stanley's Fundamental Equity Research and do not apply to Debt Research produced by the Firm.

For disclosure purposes only (in accordance with FINRA requirements), we include the category headings of Buy, Hold, and Sell alongside our ratings of Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight. Morgan Stanley does not assign ratings of Buy, Hold or Sell to the stocks we cover. Overweight, Equal-weight, Not-Rated and Underweight are not the equivalent of buy, hold, and sell but represent recommended relative weightings (see definitions below). To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Overweight, our most positive stock rating, with a buy recommendation; we correspond Equal-weight and Not-Rated to hold and Underweight to sell recommendations, respectively.
